Industrial Strike Action Tuesday 28th February

Dear Parents/Carers,

At the time of writing, an agreement has not been met in order to prevent further strike action across the teaching profession and therefore members of the National Education Union (NEU) at Stradbroke are supporting their union in striking. At Stradbroke, this involves the vast amount of our teaching staff. As a result, school will be closed to most children on Tuesday 28th February, with the exception of the following:

- Little Teds
- The I.R.
- Year 4
- Year 6

All these children can attend school as normal.

Should an agreement be met between unions and the government before the date in question, to avoid school closures, we will ensure that we communicate this with you.

Please note, in addition to the latest strike day, the NEU is also due to take strike action on March 15th and March 16th should an agreement with the government not be met. If our members choose to take strike action on these days also, we will make you aware closer to the time of the arrangements for school.

Yours Faithfully,

John Sitch
